

David Jarmul's meetings to discuss ways of recruiting and supporting more older volunteers to assist Triangle nonprofit organizations

- Activate Good, Raleigh (Amber Smith, director)
- Adult Employment Specialist, Orange County (Mike Komives)
- Carol Woods retirement community, Chapel Hill (Heather Altman, vice president)
- Connect 55+ program, Orange County (Shenae McPherson, administrator)
- Duke-Durham Neighborhood Partnership (Sam Miglarese, director)
- Duke Office of Durham and Regional Affairs (Stelfanie Williams, vice president)
- Duke University (Kyle Cavanaugh, vice president of administration)
- Durham Center for Senior Life (Alvonia Baldwin, center director)
- Durham Connections for Aging & Disabilities (Melissa Black, coordinator)
- Durham County government (Drew Cummings, chief of staff)
- Encore.org (Betsy Werley, director of network expansion)*
- Encore Boston Network (Doug Dickson, board director)*
- Give 5 Program, United Way of the Ozarks (Greg Burris & Cora Scott)*
- Lakewood Elementary volunteer program (Connie Winstead and Margaret Hodel)
- Moss + Ross consulting (Susan Ross, partner)
- NC Commission on Volunteerism & Community Service (Caroline Farmer & Colleen Garrett)
- Osher Lifelong Learning Institute (Chris McLeod, director)
- Retired and Senior Volunteer Program of Durham County, (Paula Reif, coordinator)
- Triangle Nonprofit & Volunteer Leadership Center (Kim Shaw, director)
- United Way of the Triangle (Eric Guckian, director)

* phone conversation

Some titles may have changed since these meetings.